Who is the richest person in the united states today

20 Oct 2014 / 2 min reading A billion dollars may seem like an incredible amount of wealth for a single person, but almost every state of the nation has an individual that is worth at least so much. Wealth-X compiled a list of the richest person in every state and found that in only nine states — Utah, New Mexico, Mississippi, Maine, Delaware, Hawaii, South Dakota, Alaska and Wyoming — the richest individual has a net value of less than $1 billion. The richest person in the country is Microsoft Bill Gates co-founder and its estimated net value of $81.5 billion makes it even the richest person in the state of Washington. Follow Warren Buffett, the second richest person in the country and the richest in Nebraska, with a net value of $66.9 billion. The American dream bears fruit following the American tradition, 35 of the 50 richer individuals are self-made. Many of those who have inherited a fortune have gone to greatly improve their wealth, including businessmen like Micky Arison from Florida. The son of Carnival Corp. co-founder Ted Arison, since then has cultivated the cruise line in the largest of the world and has accumulated a fortune of $6.5 billion. Most of the rich on the list are men: only six women cut. Topping the list of women is the richest person in Arkansas, Christy Walton, who is also the richest woman in the world. She is the widow of one of the sons of the founder of Walmart Sam Walton and has an estimated net value of $37.9 billion. Check the chart below to see who is the richest person in your state. Getty Images For the second year in a row, Forbes came out with a ranking of the richest person in every state, a list of 54 high-rollers (four states had ties) that reads as a chi-chi of the modern American industry. Business leaders have earned their fortunes in fashion and retail fields in the world of technology, and all eight of them are billionaires. Their collective wealth: $682 billion, but who counts? No wonder here, philanthropist, entrepreneur and founder of Microsoft Bill Gates is the richest person in the list with a net value of $76 billion. Otherthis year's ranking includes former New York City mayor Michael Bloomberg who omitted David Koch as the richest man in the state of the Empire, and Facebook CEO Mark Zuckerberg who made his debut with $51.6 billion, $18 billion which he was earned in the last year. He took California from Oracle's founder Larry Ellison. Worthy of note is also Alice Walton, Texas, the richest woman in the list, with a net value of 33.3 billion dollars.
